TEXTILE GRADUATES PLAN FOR ALUMNI DAY

On March 9, the Executive Committee of the L. T. I. Alumni Association met in the rooms of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers in Boston to lay plans for the Spring meeting of the Alumni Association. Most of the board was present which was most grotfying to all concerned. Mr. W. D. Jelleme, president of the association made a special trip from New York to attend the meeting and he, of course, was the presiding officer. Routine business was discussed and general plans made for the meeting. Committees were appointed to bring in completed plans for Alumni Day.

Nominating committee: Edward M. Abbot, '04, Stanley H. Wheelock, '05, Charles H. Forseith, '20.

Tecshical committee: Edwin D. Fowle, '24, E. Dean Wulen, '14, Russell T. Fisher, '14.

Games committee, J. Milton Washburn, '21, (select own committee).

Banquet, Speakers and Program committees: Phillip H. Warren, '05, Frank L. McCool, '10, Henry A. Bodwell, '00.

The adjourned meeting of the Executive Committee was held at the same place and was again practically a full attendance. President Jelleme presided. The chairman of the Banquet Committee reported that arrangements were completed with the Page Catering Co. to service a buffet lunch at 12.30 and a dinner at 6 P. M. The catering by Page assures the best in the line of food.

Edward M. Abbot, chairman of the nominating committee reported the following nominations:

Edwin D. Fowle, '24, President.
Frank McCool, '10, Vice President.
Professor Arthur A. Stewart, '00, Secretary.

Executive Committee: Phillip H. Warren, '05, Everett B. Rich, '11, James F. Dewey, '04, Arthur J. Henigan, '08, Stanley H. Wheelock, '05, Brackett W. Parsons, '20, Leonard S. Farr, '08, Dilin D. Guy, '03, E. Dean Wolen, '14, J. Milton Washburn, '21, A. Edwin Wells, '20, Russell T. Fisher, '14, Dean W. Symmes, '22, Alexander Campbell, '23.

For the technical session Fowle reported that arrangements were being completed for an interesting series of round table discussions, each to last about an hour. Much interest has been shown in this session. It is hoped that in the future this phase of Alumni Day will prove to be not only instructive but also decidedly interesting. After the technical session and combined with it, the American Bemberg Corporation's film on the manufacture of rayon will be shown. In conjunction with the film there will be a snappy style show. The speakers at the technical session will be Kenneth B. Cook, '13, Charles H. Forsmith, '20, Russell T. Fisher, '14.

Brackett W. Parsons, 18, chairman of the Dennett Memorial Gate, reported that the gate contributed by the alumni members of Battery F, 102nd Field Artillery, would be erected in time for the dedication ceremony on Alumni Day. Arrangements have been made to have a battery of the 102nd Field Artillery assist in the dedication.

A.S.M.E. Meeting

A meeting of the local chapter was held in room 261 on May 2nd at 11.00 A. M. Mr. Holt opened the meeting by urging the undergraduates to consider holding office in the society for the coming school year. Those men interested were to see the chairman as soon as possible.

The speaker of the hour Mr. Horner of the Holophane Glass Co. was introduced. The subject presented was a general talk on industrial illumination. Mr. Horner brought out the point that although America was noted for its economical development of industries it has only been lately that consideration has been given to correct lighting.

Proper lighting increases production, decreases spoilage, and improves the immediate supervision of workmen. The lecturer then went into a discussion of lamp shades or globes and their industrial application.

For each light unit graphs were drawn illustrating its features that made the unit adaptable to given lighting conditions. The lecture was brought to a close with a request for questions.

The meeting adjourned at 12.40.

Respectfully submitted,
CHARLES I. SHELTDN.

Scholarship Fund

The Professor Stephen E. Smith, '00, Scholarship Fund has received pledges to date totaling $3073.43, of which, $2555.58 has been paid. This leaves an unpaid balance on pledges of $517.75.

Your committee hopes the delinquents will promptly meet their obligation so that the money may be permanently invested and put to the use for which it was intended. We hope to have the pleasure of reporting all pledges paid at the Annual Meeting.

Only 119 members have contributed to the fund. Surely there must be others who are interested in so worthy a cause. Why not make the fund total $3500? Is it possible to find fifty others to contribute ten dollars each? Let us hope so.

ARTHUR A. STEWART, '00.
Chairman.
Scholarship Fund Committee.

What a Comeback!!

After a layoff of nine years Upstream Day came back with a victory if the decision of the judges, among whom were a large percentage of both students and faculty members, can be accepted as a verdict. And who is more fit to judge? After a defeat it is said to be an unusual thing to come back, but this opinion received a death blow Thursday at the Martin Luther Drounds in Tyngsboro.

With no classes scheduled, a great majority of the students left in a bus chartered for the occasion at about nine o'clock. Others traveled to suit their moods. Phi Psi arrived in a cloud of dust in a covered wagon with three "sheets" to the wind. Sturdy pioneers appeared in the forms of "Pete" Gross, "Joe" Brook, "Jack" Stewort, "Ed" Herman, and "Ben" Ready who had charge of the "motor". (?) Not to be outdone, the O Pi fire department followed close on their trail. The worth of such an organization was clearly shown later in the day. The personnel of the fire department was made up as follows: "Bill" Stifel, chauffeur; "Al" Anderson and "Bob" Matthews, hose men; and "Slim" Johnson, hook and ladder.

After everyone had arrived in their own individual and characteristic manner things began to happen. During the forenoon the Sophs defeated the Freshmen and Juniors in baseball. In the words of "Twin" MacDonald, ator moundman of the Sophs, these victories were due to the stellar playing of—"the Sophomores." After this an entertainment was staged by Bradford in a little skit entitled "Reversion to Nature". He was assisted by many ambitious property men. Not to be excelled the sophmore engineers confidence man "Herbie" Bugshaw staged a little act depicting the life of an ape man in captivity. The fresh-

Fighting Textile Team Downs Mass. Aggies

Put Over Seven Runs in the "Lucky Seventh" to Clinch First Victory of Season.

Textile come through with their first victory of the baseball season on April 30, when they took Mass. Aggies to the tune of 8 to 7. It was a long game, Textile merely biding its time until the opportunity come to put over the winning runs.

Up to the seventh inning, both sides had one run each. Zielinski was put in to relieve Wherity, Aggie's pitcher. Allard started on him with a triple and Truesdale worked him for a double. Then started a steady procession

EDITORIALS

Up until last Thursday there was a considerable amount of sentiment against Upstream Day. This sentiment could not be otherwise than changed now, in view of the manner in which the program was carried out this year. The Executive Council and Professor Cushing deserve a great deal of credit for handling the affair so successfully. There were no minutes that dragged and everyone seemed to be enjoying themselves.

It seems as if after such a perfect Upstream Day this year, the affair is sure to become once again an annual event. There is only one thing that should be changed. The money should be taken from everyone's breakage fee. As it is now, Upstream comes at a time when most of us are apt to be slightly financially embarrassed, and many who would like to go can not. Furthermore even if one of the Professors is willing to spend his time and efforts getting the money, he should not have to do so. There are always other things that a Professor who has so much interest in promoting college activities can do.

At a mass meeting held on April 26, the faculty director of athletics made a plea for support for the baseball team at the Norwich game, the second home game of the season. The spirit of the team was in a critical condition after having lost its first three games. Professor Cushing requested that as many as possible of the students be present to cheer the players to victory over Norwich.

At the game, however, only a small percentage of the students were in evidence. Barely fifty were present. The rest of the spectators were disinterested persons. The cheer leader could hardly get a whisper when he wanted a cheer. It was heartbreaking to see our team go down fighting before an aggregation that was not in the least superior to it. But no team, no matter how good, could win with such poor support, particularly when such support is accorded on its own home field, where it ought at least to expect a fairly large crowd of rooters.

If, on the other hand, the team was a championship team, the students would be one hundred percent present, as was evidenced in football. What kind of sportsmanship is this? We follow our team when it is victorious, yet, when the breaks go against it, and the players need our support in order to pull through, we are not "there."

Think this over, and turn out at the next game.

The Colleges and Defense

(From the Chicago Tribune)

That the colleges of America have assumed a significant part in the defensive system of the nation is evident from the success of the reserve officers' training corps located in educational centers from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast. It is a part of once effective from a military point of view and democratic from the social point of view, and young men trained and accustomed in the work and habits of American life are given also a military skill that will be of high service in the event of war.

The self-confidence and address of the soldier is of enduring value to a man in civil life. The work of the normal world, the diffusion of American ways of seeing things throughout his living enhances his value as a citizen. The Americanization of our military system is much needed. A system that takes its form, character and psychology from European feudalism needs the thrust and enlightenment of America. Our military and naval system needs co-ordination with American society.

On American college men, trained in the technique of national defense, this work well may fall. They come with America and Americanism in their blood. They retain an interest in the ways of civil life. They are best able—with sufficient training and experience—to adjust our defensive system to the habits and psychology of America.

The need is great. America will not adequately support the national defense until our military and naval systems are more in key socially with American points of view and interests. The college men in the reserve officers' training corps have an important function. They are liaison between civil life and national defense.

The Collegiate Coonskin

(Buffalo Courier Express)

Dean Christian Gauss of Princeton defines the term "collegiate" as "bumptious social immaturity sometimes complicated by acute class consciousness." Then, stopping for a much needed long breath, the good dean adds that this characteristic is not always a temporary affliction of college undergraduates but sometimes is carried into later life by alumni.

Dean Gauss believes, however, that Princeton is becoming less and less collegiate. In support of this theory he points with pride to the waning popularity of the coonskin coat which he looks upon as the badge and symbol of the collegiate complex. He admits that Princeton undergraduates still wear coonskins, but explains they do it in a shame-faced way "for warmth and for lack of polo coats and Chesterfields."

It is well that the dean has cleared up a vexed question in the public mind. Hereafter when we see a youth who wears a coonskin coat (save in a shame-faced way for warmth, etc.) we shall know he is brazenly collegiate. But if he is attired in polo coat or Chesterfield, it will be obvious that he is commendably lacking in bumptious social immaturity complicated by acute class consciousness

SIGMA OMEGA PSI

News, about the house is indeed scarce, since most of the stepping out men have suddenly put a curtailment on their nightly pleasures. On the other hand, some of them have become exceedingly tight mouthed, or one in particular, and news concerning his whereabouts over the week-ends and otherwise seems to be none. Detectives are already on his trail and an investigation is imminent.

PHI PSI NOTES

With the year drawing rapidly to a close, we find the boys staying in a little more, to catch up on back work, in order that they may make a glorious exit from the roll of students.

• • • •

Our Roger has finally returned to the fold, and la; he has in tow one of "Henney" Ford's latest products. We haven't decided which nights we are going to take turns using it but there are several at work on the matter and we expect to know which night is to be ours soon.

• • • •

A great deal of speculation as to our Sil's latest sojourn has been going the rounds lately. No one seems to know the exact nature of his malady but the writer's personal opinion is that he has had a severe attack of double spring fever.

• • • •

Ponderous Post Gross has complained that in the last two days, the rats have made away with a pair of his shoes, his overcoat, his hunting hook and some valuable pieces of his wife's jewelry. They should be upbraided for not carrying him off too.

The latest report from the Course Crabber's room is that with the advent of daylight saving, Itchy and Scratchy have decided to go to bed nights at 9.30 instead of their usual 10 o'clock parade to the Flubber's room.

• • • •

We are pleased to present at this writing two new men. We do not know their names as yet as they are rather bashful and quiet and backward about coming forward. They have taken up their abode in the front room, and judging from the scampering around and tittering, they must enjoy each other's company immensely

Everett B. Rich, '11, was appointed a committee of one to procure a cup, to be known as the President's Cup, which is to be presented in full form to the class having the largest percentage of attendance present at the banquet. This cup is to be contested for hereafter and much enthusiasm is already being shown. The cup will have the numerals of the winning class engraved on it and it will be kept in a suitable location in school.

The speakers at the Banquet will be: Charles H. Eames, President; Herbert H. Mauersberger, '18, President New York Alumni and Frank L. McCool, '10, President Boston Alumni. Everett B. Rich, '11, will present the President's cup. The speaker of the evening will be George Sloon, Secretary of the Cotton Textile Institute.

There will also be at this time the presentation of prizes for the day's events. These prizes are well worth having and should provide plenty of competition.

Results of Textile Games

TEXTILE LOSES TO WESLEYAN, 16—5

Lowell Textile Institute suffered a 16—5 defeat at the hands of Wesleyan at Middletown on April 24. In spite of the score, it was a close game throughout, both teams showing up very poorly. Allard and Niles pitched for Textile, with Fredrickson catching. Quigley made a triple in the fifth, stretching it to a four-bagger on an overthrow. Coone did fine work in the box for Wesleyan.

• • • •

TEXTILE BEATEN BY TRINITY 8—0, IN A 4 INNING GAME

Textile bowed to Trinity, at Hartford, on April 26, the score being 8—0 when the game was called in the fourth inning. It started to rain at the last of the first inning and the downpour continued until the play was called. Zalkind, for Textile, pitched a fair game, but received ragged support. Adams of Trinity was not exceptionally clever Savard furnished the best stick-work for Textile, getting a double to left in the first and a single to center in the second.

• • • •

NORWICH DEFEATS TEXTILE 11—4

Textile dropped a one-sided game to Norwich on April 28, on the home campus. They were on the short end of an 11—4 score, failing to score a hit throughout the entire game.

Norwich collected eleven runs from Allard in seven innings, part of which were due to errors. Zalkind pitching the last two innings, stopped any further scoring. The best hit of the game was a homer by Coone, which landed miles away in Moody Street. The Textile infield was better in this game than in any previous game.

• • • •

TEXTILE TAKEN BY PROVIDENCE, 23 TO 4

Textile was swamped by Providence college at Providence on May 4, the score being 23 to 4 at the end of the seventh inning, when the game was called. It was practically a slaughter with Providence getting two home runs, two triples and a double for a total of nineteen hits against eight for Textile.

Eddie Allard was the most versatile player on the field. He caught the first two innings of the game and pitched the last four innings. He also collected two hits, one being a double.

CAMEL
CIGARETTES

WHY CAMELS ARE THE BETTER CIGARETTE

Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown—cured and blended with expert care.

Camels are mild and mellow.

The taste of Camels is smooth and satisfying.

Camels are cool and refreshing.

The fragrance of Camels is always pleasant, indoors or out.

They do not tire the taste nor leave any cigaretty after-taste.

Patient: "I don't smoke, doctor."

Dr.: "Then give up drinking."

P.: "I don't drink, doctor."

Dr.: "Then give up running around at night."

P.: "I don't run around, doctor."

Dr.: "Haven't you any vices?"

P.: "Dh, yes. I play parcheesi, doctor."

Dr.: "Humph! You might as well go ahead and die, then."

Mandy: (in church): "Wake up, man! De collection plate am comin'."

Rastus: "Keep quiet, woman. Ah knows it's comin'."

• • • •

A: "What is home without a mother?"

B: "A necking party!"

• • • •

Nurse: "You're the fifth waiter whose finger I've bandaged today."

Waiter: "Yeah, they're making us serve the soup too hot."

• • • •

First Soused: "Yes, I kept a speakeasy open for three years."

Second Soused: "Dh, you naughty boy! Then what happened?"

First Soused: "I quit patronizing it."

• • • •

M. A. Jones: "I'm studying feminine anthropology."

B. M. Jones: "Indeed. Are you taking a thorough course?"

M. A. Jones: "No, just the lower branches."

• • • •

Soup: "What would I have to give you for one little kiss?"

Girl Friend: "Chloroform."

• • • •

First patient: "Where did Dr. Jones make all his money?"

Second patient: "In the stork market."

Dentist: "You have a large cavity. Don't you brush your teeth every morning?"

Morse: "Yes, it's the first thing I do before going to bed."

• • • •

Dirl Friend: "Oh, I wish you were frank!"

Sylvester: "Dh, yeah? Well, to tell the truth I wouldn't mind a heck of a lot if you were Louise."

Garbage Collector (to his barehead fellow worker who is loading the wagon): "My Gosh, what a smell! What is that stuff you put on your hair, Joe?"

• • • •

First Souse: "So I says, 'Have you anything for a dollar a pint?'"

Second Ditto: "Uh huh?"

First Souse: "And he says, 'Yeah—ginger ale!'"

• • • •

N. Spaulding: "I had a funny experience with a fat girl last night. We were sitting in the dark and I thought we were necking, but all the time I had hold of her arm."

• • • •

Scottie (watching workmen on the afteeoth story of a new construction): "Those guys have a terrific nerve going up on those girders."

Frenchie: "Dh, no, they got permission from the owner."

• • • •

"Why is that deaf mute scrubbing his hands so vigorously?"

"Dh, he just got through telling a dirty story."

DESIGNING PREPARATORY WEAVING FINISHING SELLING

Where do you hope to fit in this picture?

If in DESIGNING you hope to create novel ideas requiring flexible LOOMS.

PREPARATORY work must be handled with the knowledge that the modern automatic high speed LOOMS require better warp and filling.

WEAVING is a major cost of manufacturing textiles and thus requires the constant study of improvements in construction, different types, and best adjustments of LOOMS to produce the maximum of good quality most inexpensively.

FINISHING discloses worked goods due to improper adjustment of LOOMS.

SELLING involves also a knowledge of new developments in LOOMS to recommend new salable fabrics which will enable your firm to keep ahead of competition.

As you progress from your first position to that of executive, follow the example of an increasing number of mill men,—Keep in touch by making regular visits to "THE LARGEST BUILDERS OF FANCY WEAVING MACHINERY IN THE WORLD."

Dear Alumnus:

MAY 18TH IS THE DAY.

LOWELL.

Most of the fellows seem to want to get back THERE for reunion.

The Alumni Clubs in Boston and New York are flourishing, and will hath sent big delegations. Both will have reports.

In planning the program we intend to have something for everyone to do all day long. There will be plenty of interest. Look at the program.

Do you want to take off your coat and play? You'll have a chance.

Do you want to gossip with the gang? Plenty of opportunity.

Do you want to talk shop? This is provided for too.

Milt Washburn is the committee on games. Leave it to him to get 'em going. For those who want to talk shop Ed. Fowle, Russell Fisher, and Dean Whalen are the committee preparing a program with plenty in it.

Then there's the baseball game. It will do you good to get out and root and exercise your lungs. Athletics mean something at Textile these days.

A special feature follows the game. A gate in the glass fence will be dedicated to the memory of Mahlon Webb Dennett, '18, by the boys of Battery F, 102nd Field Artillery, who served with him during the World War. The local battery will be out with men and guns to assist in the dedication.

Then the banquet. Phil Warren and his committee promise that "a good time will be had by all", nobody excepted. We've secured George Sloan, Secretary of the Cotton Textile Institute, as speaker, and we know you're going to like him.

The past presidents of the Alumni Association have offered a loving cup to be presented each year to the class having the largest percentage of attendance. The presentation will be made in FULL FORM and with proper ceremony at the banquet. Prizes will also be presented to the winners of the athletic events.

The party starts at 10.30 A. M. There's some business to be done, so we'll start with whoever is there and get it over. We know you want all the time possible for other things. Doings will be over in time to get to Boston on the 9.46 train.

THE GANG IS GOING TO BE THERE. DON'T MISS IT.

William O. Jelleme, '10, President

L. T. I. Alumni Association, 1929.

WHAT A COMEBACK! !

men then presented their candidate for swimming honors in the person of "Nell" Spaulding, Nashua's pride and joy, who demonstrated the famous Seal Plunge.

At about this time dinner was ready for serving and all sat down to a most excellent dinner served by the Page Catering Company out in the open under the shade of trees. After a little gentle persuasion Profs Barker and Stewart were prevailed upon to remove their cravats and then all was peace. Grapefruit, fruit salad, rolls, potatoes, roast beef, beans, coffee, cake, and ice-cream were included in the well balanced menu. Each one also received a package of cigarettes to top off the meal.

After dinner the O Pi F. D. showed its worth very dramatically. A grass fire had been started in center field and in a short while they were on the scene and very efficiently demonstrated the value of a ladder in modern methods of fire-fighting.

The main event for the afternoon was the baseball game between the Seniors and the Faculty. After "Cush" had rounded up his Sisters and Ruths the game was started. But that was all. A hurried call was sent to the fire department to extinguish a fire that some over-anxious freshmen had started. However, with the help of the spectators, under the direction of the more seasoned members of the department, the blaze was soon extinguished and the game was resumed. The game was taken by the Seniors. "Cush", the faculty standby of the Profs in the box, was at his heights and batting honors went to him and "Snoop" Kennedy. They both hit three baggers. Kennedy's collegiate bogs were no doubt a real asset to him. Pres. Eames held down second base in a very uncertain manner. Lester Ball showed great promise as a track man.

The lineup of the Profs included—Howarth, "Cush", Gaudet, Lester Ball, Eddie Wells, "Russ" Brown, Pres. Eames, Kennedy, Hoeltrich, Merrill, Patterson and others too numerous to mention. The Seniors' lineup included Frederickson, McKinnon, Phelan "Peabody" Matthews, Buzzell, Hurd, Myers, Campbell, Holbrook, etc. The final score was 11—6. Campbell was called away by far greater things during the game but returned for the finish.

Those not desirous of vigorous activity found other forms of amusement. Bridge, slop jack, old maids, five-hundred, Fatima and even other card games had many followers throughout the day. Many showed their skill on the links in games of barnyard golf. Many Profs. were prominent here. The Dye Lab Twins sure pitched a mean stirring rod. Some of the more adventurous tried their luck on broncho busters. "Freddie" however was not a willing party to such manipulations as Cowboy Hole had this fact forcibly brought home. "Freddie" was inclined to wandering and his sponsors found it necessary to bring him home several times.

Among the field events was an inspiring tug of war between the Sophs and the Frosh. After a few experiments in determing the proper relative weights the Sophs finally achieved a victory. Track events were now in order. The first was the three legged race. Hale and Ellis showed real style in this event and won first prizes of key cases. Hurd and Holbrook were rewarded with dust caps for trailing the winners. After this came the straightaway dash which was won by "Freddie" Burtt. "Poofoo" Ferguson appeared in a track suit, but too late to run. The Sophs come thru with a victory in the relay, with a team composed of Ivers, Quigley, Danahy and Burtt. Quigley and Lathrop rolled in with a victory in the wheelbarrow race.

At about 5.30 a buffet supper was served consisting of beans, frankforts, brown bread, pickles, doughnuts and coffee. Shortly after the day was called one of seven.

To properly show appreciation of such a day as Upstream Day, here's one way:

Western Union Telegraph Company
To "Les" Cush,
Lowell Textile Institute,
Lowell, Mass.

Congratulations (Stop) Great idea to bring back Upstream Day (Stop) Here's to many more in the future (Stop)

(Signed) I WAS THERE.

Many thanks are due to Les Cush and the Executive Council for putting it over. The officers of the Council are Jimmy Ellis, President; Jack Stewart, Vice President; Al Grant, Second Vice President; Cupie Pittman, Secretary. It is a fitting ending for the class days of the seniors and an interesting interruption in the hurrying of the underclassmen to finish the year's work.
